Dear Mr. Welham,

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) repair station initial certification process conducted under the United States/European Union Agreement, Annex 2, "Maintenance" and associated Maintenance Annex Guidance (MAG) has been completed. Additionally, review of your Civil Aviation Authority (CAA) submitted documentation for Jetworks Limited has been accomplished. Attached are your FAA Air Agency Certificate Nr. 3JWY419C and Operation Specifications which will remain in effect until November 30, 2015 unless surrendered, suspended or revoked.

We ask you to print and review all pages of all documents for accuracy. If you note any errors immediately contact your CAA.

Please print and sign your Operations Specifications then immediately return one signed set to our office and to your CAA via scanned e-mail or by mail.

If you desire renewal of your certificate, please submit ninety (90) days prior to expiration date (or within the time period specified by your CAA), an application for renewal, FAA Form 8310-3. Include a list of work accomplished (activity list) on United States (U.S.) registered aircraft or their components noting aircraft registration and company work order identification. These documents, along with any other pertinent documents, should be routed through your CAA in accordance with the MAG.

Sincerely,
